SAVE THE DATE

Lunch Lecture

“Corruption, Human Rights and the Rule of Law: India’s Challenges for Good Governance”

by

Professor C. Raj Kumar
Vice Chancellor O.P. Jindal Global University and Dean, Jindal Global Law School

Tuesday, October 19, 2010
12:10 p.m.
Yale Law School – Room 122

RSVP to mridula.raman@yale.edu

Co-sponsored by Dean’s Office, The South Asian Law Students Association, the Yale Law & Business Society, the American Constitution Society, and the Yale SOM Economic Development Club

Professor C. Raj Kumar spearheaded the initiative to establish the O.P. Jindal Global University (JGU), the Jindal Global Law School (JGLS) (India’s first global law school), and the Jindal Global Business School (India’s first multi-disciplinary global business school), in the Delhi region. He is the Vice Chancellor of O.P. Jindal Global University and the Dean of the Jindal Global Law School. Professor Kumar is a Member of the National Legal Knowledge Council (NLKC) and an Honorary Consultant to the National Human Rights Commission in India. He was a faculty member at the City University of Hong Kong, where he taught for many years. Professor Kumar was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, where he obtained a Bachelor of Civil Law degree, a Landon Gammon Fellow at Harvard Law School, where he obtained his Master of Laws, and a James Souverine Gallo Memorial Scholar at Harvard University. He also obtained a Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Delhi, India and a Bachelor of Commerce from the Loyola College of the University of Madras, India.

Professor Kumar’s areas of specialization include human rights and development, terrorism and national security, corruption and governance, law and disaster management, and comparative constitutional law and legal education. He has nearly one hundred publications to his credit and has published widely in journals and law reviews in Australia, Hong Kong, India, Japan, and the USA. Professor Kumar is an Attorney at Law and is admitted to the Bar Council of Delhi, India and the Bar of the State of New York, USA.